“Granny Porter will be missed but forever remembered...Around seven years ago my wife and I went to find the perfect place for an event connecting Alabama and Georgia together. The Chief Ladiga and the Silver Comet trails we're finally going to merge and it was time for celebration! We found the perfect place only because we found the perfect person. Granny Porter knew and loved everybody in the area. Within minutes we had phone numbers, landowner information, and a plan. Smart, fun, and beautiful, she was the perfect person. Just as the trail was 95 miles long, she was a young 95 years old. Her house was in both Alabama and Georgia. She wore black and red, colors of the Coca-Cola Company who was sponsoring the event. Nearly 1000 people attended the event and all remember when 12 children from Alabama and 12 children from Georgia handed Granny the ribbons to tie together. Nice occasion, beautiful person. May she rest in peace.
